Mommy Dearest

Remember those keen-o wood puzzles you played with when you were a pre-K modernist or the Danish hi-fi unit your grampa had with the flip-up lid? Well modmom furniture does. The Owyn Toy Box has two leaf-shaped lids that solve “the-top-bang-ded-down-on-my-heaaaad” walls, and the Gracie model would be a tempting steal for the living room. Made from Baltic birch plywood, non-toxic paint and low-VOC polyurethane, they sit on MCM-style legs, too; $350–$395. Visit modmomfurniture.etsy.com to order.

Light Up My Life

Bullet, bell, tapered or double tapered—Hip Haven’s ceiling or wall-mounted light fixtures look old school while being trendy at the same time. Each style is available in single, double or triple versions, as well as 16 powder-coat colors or brushed and polished metallics.

Say you’re looking for a hot orange 3” mini bullet for your Airstream? Got it. A tasty triple tapered bullet in brushed aluminum rated for the atrium of your Rummer? Double check. Browse the combos at hiphaven.com, starting at $45.

We were charmed by the original bath, but Storm plans to tile the walls, replace the sink and reporcelain the tub. Vintage fabric under glass lends a decorative touch to a shelf without being over the top.

The Heywood-Wakefield dining room table and upholstered chairs date from 1953, the only year they made these pre-dog-bone-style chairs, the homeowner says.

Opposite: On a quiet block in the Piedmont neighborhood of Portland, Storm chose Sherwin Williams' Burma Jade for the trim on his lamentably vinyl-clad house, which he'd like to paint in a punchier color.
